

Hello!

The American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AAIDD) is a national organization dedicated to supporting and educating professionals who work with people with disabilities. The Wisconsin Chapter (AAIDD-WI) focuses its trainings and supports on the needs of Wisconsin's citizens.

On February 11th and 12th, 2016 AAIDD-WI will sponsor an important training at the Wilderness Resort in the Wisconsin Dells entitled "Opportunity Through Change... Making the Best of Life's Challenges." Several presenters will expand the understanding of concerned family members, professionals, and caregivers on continuing to improve independence and the quality of life of people with developmental disabilities.

We are proud to have three nationally recognized speakers for this year's conference: John Agosta, Ph.D. from HSRI (Human Services Research Institute) will give us a national view on the changes occurring to the disability system in Wisconsin. Karyn Harvey, Ph. D. from Baltimore, having received incredibly positive feedback presenting at the 2013 conference, will be returning to speak for us, presenting on the power of our words and their impact on the lives of the individuals we serve. Laura A. Owens, Ph.D., current President of TransCen, Inc., will provide participants with a national perspective on employment and address strategies to cultivate the next generation of employment practices for individuals with disabilities.

We are asking people who care about persons with developmental disabilities and the services they receive to sponsor this important training and AAIDD-WI. We offer sponsors advertising on our website conference page and/or a vendor booth at the conference. Donations will go directly to AAIDD WI to sponsor our annual conference. The attached Agency Sponsorship form provides additional information.

Sincerely,

Dan Drury, Conference Chair AAIDD-WI
